The short and distort campaign on $sava is perpetrating a genocide on 250,000 Alzheimer's victims from the ~6 month they have caused to an approved @US_FDA trial. Nobody can deny Simufilam has a chance to help AD victims. The @DOJCrimDiv and @SEC are allowing this and must act!

It's never the other way around, right? I see it as the money being poured into this very questionable science as a financial game is being diverted from other uses that might actually provide benefit. The genocide stuff is beyond the pale.

It's really over the line, and you're 100% correct. It's not that I don't want AD cured or treated--as someone who's lost family members to it, of course I want meds for it. But we get those with more and better science, not stock pumping flim flam.

The FDA is allowing Ph3. NIH has funded some. SEC has cleared. Why do you trust internet scientist more than those three entities?

The halls of shattered dream biotech bankruptcies are littered with companies that failed Ph3 and had funding. Thanks to internet sleuths like @Adrian_H @MicrobiomDigest and @MidwestHedge we just have the luxury of seeing the scam sooner than later.

Biotech is a high risk investment category. Most fail. So predicting it is like predicting clouds will be in the sky. The "sluehths" have missed many times and use horrible tactics (ie discrediting rape victims). Characterizing $sava as a fraud is very wrong and out of line.

You were comparing SAVA skeptics to purveyors of genocide yesterday. Maybe take several seats on "out of line" bucko.

The WB forgeries alone support calling it a fraud.

Severe interference with an fda approved trial on a drug that is known safe IS killing people because there is a good chance this drug works. I'm defending the right of the company and people to be in the trial without manipulation.

There is no proof whatsoever that Simufilam can save lives. Based on results presented by the company (not yet peer reviewed) it might halt cognitive decline - but there is no way of knowing if it increases life span. Saying the skeptics are committing genocide is out of line.

It doesn't halt cognitive decline either, I'm afraid, because all the 'science' behind it was faked by a crazy fabulist, and it is a completely imaginary drug that doesn't even engage its (never-validated) target.

Any thoughts on the BIIB drug that is in its final phase?

21.........Adrian H @Adrian_H · Sep 28, 2022

Congratulations to them..
has nothing to do with SAVA or their fake drug

Imagine it has provided SAVA baggies some nice exit liquidity though on a sympathy pump.

I take it Simuflam is an unrelated drug?

Imagine in the morning when the market realizes SAVA's unrelated drug ran as a sympathy play, you'll see predictable results for the pumpers chasing it.
